LED balloon lights and halogen lights

Balloon lights are an increasingly popular type of LED lighting. They have high efficiency, beam focusing, and can also minimize glare and eye fatigue to the greatest extent possible.

They are also more versatile than traditional halogen lamps because they can be easily moved and do not require a constant power source. In addition, balloon lamps do not require the same level of maintenance as halogen lamps, making them a better choice for construction sites.

Halogen lamps are not as efficient as LED lamps and can produce glaring light. Due to the short lifespan and high energy consumption of halogen lamps, the long-term cost of using halogen lamps is also higher.

Halogen lamps are also more prone to overheating, which can pose a safety hazard in certain environments. The heating of LED balloon lights is appropriately adjusted by built-in drivers, making it a safer and more efficient choice for construction sites.
